

The Honorable James L. Robart

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
AT TACOMA

JOSEPH LOCHUCH EWALAN,

Plaintiff,

v.

ROBERT SCHREIBER, et al.,

Defendants.

NO. 3:20-cv-05678-JLR

DEFENDANTS' RESPONSE TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION TO CONTINUOUS TRIAL DATE (DKT.
202)

COME NOW defendants Robert Schreiber, Arlee Rothwell, Russell Dickerson, Kendra Wakefield, and Denny Larsen (collectively Defendants), through counsel, responding to Plaintiff's Motion to Continuous Trial Date (Dkt. 202). The motion should be denied. Plaintiff provides no evidence nor legal authority for a trial continuance, and the basis of his request is a circumstance—his lack of an attorney—that has persisted for years. Defendants would be prejudiced by an eleventh-hour continuance, as they are already making arrangements for trial and deserve not to be mired in this litigation longer than necessary.

PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Plaintiff filed this case almost four years ago. Dkt. 5. He “proceeded pro se for nearly three years before the [C]ourt appointed Mr. Johnson” as pro bono counsel in response to Plaintiff's fifth motion requesting a lawyer. Dkt. 135 at 4:5–6; see also Dkts. 7, 35, 46, 69, 115. That representation did not last long; Plaintiff essentially fired his attorney. See Dkts. 133, 135.

1 Seven months ago, the Court set this matter for trial. Dkt. 147. That trial date was
 2 continued, and the parties recently participated in a mediation, but were not able to resolve this
 3 dispute. Dkt. 163; Declaration of Mark Rachel in Support of Defendants’ Response to Plaintiff’s
 4 Motion to Continuous Trial Date (Dkt. 202) (Rachel Decl.), ¶ 2.

5 ARGUMENT

6 Plaintiff now is “asking ... for continu[ation of the] trial date in order to retain an
 7 attorney,” and asserts that he is “in conversation with 4 lawyers for representation in this case.”
 8 Dkt. 202 at 1–2. As previously noted, Plaintiff has been seeking representation for years, and his
 9 present motion does not elucidate, for example, how current circumstances materially differ from
 10 what has been his ongoing quest since 2020, nor any explanation as to why he may have failed
 11 to appreciate the importance of trial counsel until this extremely late juncture, when the parties
 12 are well into pretrial preparations. See generally Dkts. 163, 202; Rachel Decl., ¶ 5.

13 Both FED. R. CIV. P. 16(b)(4) and LCR 16(b)(6) provide that a case schedule, including 14 a trial date, “may be modified only for good cause and with the judge’s consent.” “The central 15 inquiry under FED. R. CIV. P. 16(b)(4) is whether the requesting party was diligent[.]” DRK Photo
 16 v. McGraw-Hill Global Educ. Holdings, LLC, 870 F.3d 978, 989 (9th Cir. 2017). Accordingly,
 17 and as noted by In re Western States Wholesale Natural Gas Antitrust Litigation, 715 F.3d 716,
 18 737 (9th Cir. 2013), “[t]he good cause standard typically will not be met where the party seeking 19 to modify the scheduling order has been aware of the facts and theories [relevant] ... since the 20 inception of the action.” Such is the case here: Plaintiff clearly knew about the desirability of 21 representation three years ago, when he commenced this action. Indeed, the first of his five
 22 motions to appoint counsel was filed the same day as his complaint. See Dkts. 5, 7.

23 Good cause does not include “failing to adequately prepare this matter for trial.” Cook v.
 24 City of Pomona, 884 F. Supp. 1457, 1459 (C.D. Cal. 1995). Plaintiff knew the current trial date
 25 in October, as well as the fact of his self-representation, but has waited five months to bring the 26 instant motion for a continuance. Cf. Zivkovic v. Southern Cal. Edison Co., 302 F.3d 1080, 1087–

1 1088 (9th Cir. 2002) (waiting four months to bring a motion to amend a case schedule, including
 2 continuation of trial, was not “‘good cause’ ... as required by FED. R. CIV. P. 16(b).”).

3 Plaintiff recognizes that any ruling on a motion for continuance of trial is reviewable for
 4 abuse of discretion. Dkt. 202 at 2 (“the motion to continue is Court discretion”); accord, Johnson
 5 v. Mammoth Recreations, Inc., 975 F.2d 604, 609 (9th Cir. 1992). Unfortunately, he offers this
 6 Court zero evidence upon which to exercise that discretion. Plaintiff does not cite to any prior
 7 evidence in the record of this case,<sup>1</sup> has no exhibit to his instant motion, and tellingly the only
 8 attestation he makes therein, to support a sworn statement as evidence, is for a certification of 9 service. See Dkt. 202 at 2–4 (“I hereby certify that on 16 day of March, 2024 I submitted the 10 motion to continue trial date...”). Plaintiff asserts, in unsworn and conclusory fashion, that a 11 “continu[ance] would not inconvenience defense witnesses, counsel or parties neither will 12 continu[ance] prejudice the defendants[,]” but this is untrue. See Rachel Decl. at ¶ 5. The longer
 13 Defendants are obliged to fend off Plaintiff’s kaleidoscopic motions, the more they will be drawn
 14 away from regular day-to-day duties as civil servants and the higher defense costs will mount.
 15 See Daramy v. Arctic Storm Mgmt. Group LLC, 2023 WL 5348873, slip op. at *2 (“‘A defendant
 16 suffers prejudice if the plaintiff’s actions impair the defendant’s ability to go to trial’ ... Any 17 additional time spent waiting for Plaintiffs to litigate their case will prejudice Defendants and 18 needlessly draw out this case.”) (quoting Adriana Int’l Corp. v. Theoren, 913 F.2d 1406, 1412
 19 (9th Cir. 1990)).

20 Finally, in addition to no evidence, Plaintiff candidly admits that he cites to no legal 21 authority whatsoever in support of his present request. Dkt. 202 at 2 (“Mr. Ewalan need not cite 22 authority.”). Defendants submit there is none.

 25
 26 <sup>1</sup> Nor is it this Court’s duty to “scour the record in search of” evidence to support Plaintiff’s motion; a “district court lacks the power to act as a party’s lawyer, even for pro se litigants.” Keenan v. Allan, 91 F.3d 1275, 1279 (9th Cir. 1996); Bias v. Moynihan, 508 F.3d 1212, 1219 (9th Cir. 2007).

MOTION TO STRIKE

Plaintiff recently participated in professionally-facilitated mediation at no cost to him, and now violates the mediator's confidentiality agreement, FED. R. EVID. 408, and RCW 7.07.030 by mentioning a specific monetary offer by Defendants during negotiations, as well as assertions about persons present and communications occurring during and about the mediation. Dkt. 202 at 1–2; Rachel Decl. at ¶ 2. Plaintiff has previously acknowledged that settlement communications are inadmissible; he agreed to a motion in limine on the point. See Dkts. 176 at 2, 196 at 2 n.1 (granting motion as “Agreed” and noting concord). Although the statements are unsworn and therefore not competent evidence in any event, Defendants, in an abundance of caution and to preserve the sanctity of settlement communications, hereby move to strike the same. FED. R. CIV. P. 12(f).

CONCLUSION

WHEREFORE, Defendants respectfully request the Court deny Plaintiff's motion for a trial continuance, supported by no evidence nor authority, and strike Plaintiff's statements related to mediation.

DATED this 25th day of March, 2024.
